Deep Cut

The trio that represents Splatsville

Big Man

Interview

— The three of you have really settled in as hosts of the Anarchy Splatcast, haven't you?

Shiver Well, thank you! We couldn't have done it without our adoring fans.

Frye Hah! If you ask me, Shiver and Big Man could still loosen up a bit. Improv some, y'know?

Big Man Ay… (Frye, that isn't in the script…)

— I know you all have a lot of history together. Didn't your families get together frequently when you were growing up? Have you all been friends since childhood?

Big Man Ay. Ay? Ay. (I wouldn't say friends. Friendly? We knew each other. We knew OF each other.)

Shiver It's true. We sort of just said "hi" in passing.

Frye I don't know about y'all, but I was WAY too busy with dance lessons and eel training and stuff like that to have, like, real friends.

Shiver But you used to sneak out all the time!

— Huh! I guess my research failed me. I thought you were all lifelong friends.

Frye Well, we did start to become close around middle school or so. Right?

Shiver Yeah, that's right. Frye and I were in the same class, and I could tell that she was a little bit wild, a little bit reckless. I sort of looked after her.

Frye Y-you? Looked after ME? If anything, it was the other way around!

— Well, at some point, you must have started to mesh.

Frye Oh yeah. We bonded over music. We used to literally sing from the school rooftop!

Shiver Right! We used to belt out Calamari Inkantation from up there. You know that one, don't you? It goes, "Buh, duh-dee, dah-dee, buh-duh-dah-dee-dah..."

Frye C'mon, everyone knows that one. But yeah, that's when we realized that a cappella wasn't going to cut it.

Shiver We knew Big Man a little bit, and I heard he was good on piano. So we asked him to see what he could do with the track.

Big Man Ay. Ay! (I was so nervous. I thought you wanted to fight me, or something!)

Shiver What?!

Big Man Ay! (I'm nervous again!)

—— Well, you were "discovered" a few years later, and the rest is history. Now you're the face of Splatfests in Splatsville!

Frye We're the face of Splatfests AND banditing. If there's loot to be looted, we'll loot it!

—— Sorry—what's this "loot" you speak of?

Big Man Ay. (Oh, she's obsessed with this particular card game. She has to have all the cards.)

Shiver Um, this interview is going off the rails. Can we refocus?

—— Of course—my apologies. Let me ask you about the song Anarchy Rainbow. You performed it at a recent Splatfest, didn't you? Big Man, I know you do a lot of composition. Was that one that you wrote?

Big Man Ay! Ay. (Actually, the inspiration for that song came from Frye! We were eating at a food cart when she looked up, mouth FULL of okonomiyaki, and shouted, "I'm a genius!")

Frye Yep! I figured out that if you stack the okonomiyaki and put the pickles on top—

Big Man Ay! Ay! (No, not the part about the okonomiyaki stack! The idea you had for combining the traditional school songs and dances into something new!)

Frye I'm getting there! Yeesh!

—— I think I get it! You stacked the different types of music together like okonomiyaki, and the different "flavors" combined to make something new and delicious. It's a wonderful concept, but was it challenging to execute?

Big Man Ay! Ay. (It was! Each school uses different instrumentation and techniques. Bringing them together into a cohesive sound took about six weeks or so.)

Shiver You should've seen Big Man at the end. Dried up like an uncooked lasagna noodle.

Big Man Ay! (You're the one who sent me back to the drawing board seven times!)

Shiver Well, that's what made it good, right? Your music and lyrics may have had a little bit to do with it as well.

Frye Don't forget the demo that Big Man made! I can't believe he could still sing like that when he was all dried out.

—— Big Man recorded the demo?

Shiver He did. But he knew that me and Frye would put our own spin on it in terms of singing.

Frye Do I have to be the one to tell 'em that I wrote the rap part and came up with the title?!

—— Now, Deep Cut is obviously one of a kind. But have you taken inspiration from any other artists out there today?

Big Man Ay! Ay. (Of course! I'm a big fan of Front Roe—you can learn a lot from them. And C-Side has been making great music for a long time.)

Shiver We even covered their big hit Now or Never!

—— Front Roe and C-Side... Yeah, I think I can hear the influence!

Big Man Ay. Ay. (We listen to everything though. Right now I'm really into this one DJ from Inkopolis.)

Frye Did I hear Inkopolis?

Big Man Ay! (Eep!)

—— We're almost out of time, but before we wrap up...what's next for Deep Cut?

Big Man Ay. Ay. (Well, we're still trying to hype up the Anarchy Splatcast. I feel like we're just getting started.)

Frye I just want to write more anthems for Splatfests!

Shiver They can't all be anthems, Frye. Maybe we should write a ballad for everyone who participates. A battle ballad!

Frye You heard her, Big Man. Get on it!

Big Man Ay... (This is going to be due tomorrow, isn't it...)

Deep Cut

A unit based in the Splatlands composed of Shiver, Frye, and Big Man. Each of their unique voices and dances become a trinity, engulfing those who see it into whirling waves of chaos. After being selected as the hosts of Anarchy Splatcast, they have been gaining popularity among the younger generation.

Highlight!

Check out the activities of Deep Cut

Splatfests

Splatfest is an event in which three teams are divided to battle out. The three members of Deep Cut, who are all from families that have overseen the Splatsville festivals for generations, will liven up the Splatfest with their own style that adds a unique twist to the traditional methods.

The music for the Splatfests is written by Deep Cut. Songs including Anarchy Rainbow are performed on stage in Splatsville Square.

Music Live

Jumping out from the Splatlands, they held a live concert at the venue of Nintendo Live 2022. Check out the splatastic performance video by the three accompanied by a backup band, via the QR code below.

A Treasure Hunt?

There's a huge crater on the outskirts of the Splatlands. It's a mysterious place where many artifacts are found, but there's rumors that the three have been seen occasionally out there. I wonder if it has anything to do with the words "loot" that Frye leaked out during the interview…

COLLECTABLE ITEMS ARE THE LATEST CRAZE in THE SPLATLANDS

It seems that fresh collectable items like decorations and stickers are on the rise in the Splatlands. Harmony, who works at a general store "Hotlantis" in Splatsville, showed us some inkredible goods.

Hotlantis staff
Harmony (Sea Anemone)
Originally, she was a regular customer of Hotlantis, but now she looks over the shop substituting for the store manager who frequently vanishes. Her main job is the vocalist of the band Chirpy Chips.

Sea Snail Man
A PVC figure of a foreign cartoon, Sea Snail Man. It's an old piece but has strong popularity among a particular group.

Ultra Squid
A PVC figure of the superhero Ultra Squid. There's a new series airing now, but this one is from the original series.

Chum bobblehead
A folk toy from a certain region. It is said that the vicious Chum wards off evil spirits.

Monkey-crab cushion
Once, they gave out Monkey-crab cushions by lottery when you collect the barcodes from the cereal box.

Super Sea Snail
It looks like a Super Sea Snail you can get from Splatfests, but it seems that ones used for decoration are different.

Cereal
A series of classic cereals notable by its original character, Monkey-crab. From the left: sugar, chocolate, and coconut flavors.

What to do with all those goods?

Freshen your locker

Showing off your signature style locker in the Lobby is the new thing among fresh squids. Not only can you place items, but you can place weapons and gear to your liking as well.

Outside the general store

Found some decorations that can't be found at the general store. What I heard from the owner is that they obtained these items from part time jobs at the Grizzco and also while exploring a place called Alterna.

Skateboards

Offering various designs including ones collaborating with brands. The one in the front is designed with the popular snack Mister Munchy.

Mister Shrug/ Missus Shrug

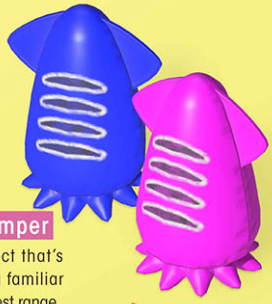
Objects of popular cartoon characters. It seems like the general store bought ones that were used for publicity.

Squid Friend

A toy that talks and sings when spoken to. Although it's designed for children, many adults are fans too.

Suspicious Garbage Can

A garbage can in the shape of squid. I spy something….



Squid Bumper

A small object that's inspired by a familiar target at the test range.

Magazines

Dig through a wide range of categories.
Is that Harmony on the cover of the music magazine?

Posters/Stickers

A pile of product posters, logo stickers and character stickers. There's plenty to choose from.

Game software

Not just the latest titles, but you can even find software for old gaming consoles. Maybe there's some lucky find!

Mugs

Novelty mugs from various manufacturers. Rare ones that weren't out in the market for a long time can be costly.

New season! New items!

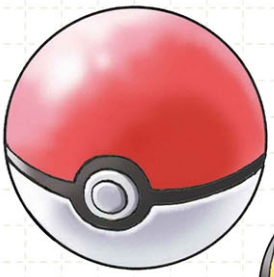
Learn about Poké Balls,

must-haves for adventure

Before going on an adventure, you need to have your items ready. Items for recovering Pokémon's HP and status condition is important, but Poké Balls are must-haves for completing Pokédex. Here, we are introducing some of the Poké Balls used by various trainers. Learn about the characteristics of each Poké Ball and use this information as a reference when selecting a Poké Ball.

Having these standard Poké Balls gives you peace of mind.



Poké Ball

The most standard Poké Ball likely to be owned by all Pokémon trainers. Having it with you will give you peace of mind.

Great Ball

A good, high-performance Poké Ball that provides a higher success rate for catching Pokémon than a standard Poké Ball. The price is reasonable, so it is recommended for intermediate trainers who find Poké Ball a little insufficient for their needs.

Ultra Ball

An ultra-high-performance Poké Ball that provides a higher success rate for catching Pokémon than a Great Ball. Many trainers use it as their main Poké Ball in the latter half of their adventure, but since it is slightly more expensive than other Poké Balls, you should always check how much you have in your wallet when purchasing.

These are the basic Poké Balls used for completing Pokédex. As long as you have these Poké Balls, you are perfectly prepared and can try to catch any Pokémon.

The best Poké Ball!

Master Ball

The best Poké Ball with the ultimate level of performance. With it, you will catch any Pokémon without fail. It is very rare and extremely difficult to obtain. You cannot catch other trainers' Pokémon even with this Poké Ball, so don't throw it to them!

Timer Ball

A Poké Ball that becomes more effective at catching Pokémon the more turns that are taken in battle. It is also suitable for catching legendary Pokémon that are hard to catch.

Repeat Ball

A Poké Ball that works especially well on a Pokémon species that has been caught before. It may be an idea to use this Poké Ball on your first move if you are trying to catch a Pokémon you previously caught.

Safari Ball

A Poké Ball that is used in the Safari Zone. Safari Balls can only be used in this area, so just keep throwing them!

The first move is the key. Never give up until the end.

Nest Ball

A Poké Ball that becomes more effective the lower the level of the Pokémon. You are more likely to accidentally knock down low-level Pokémon, so it may be best to use this Poké Ball to catch them.

The first move is important when catching Pokémon. But of course, it is not always possible to catch them on the first try, so be prepared for a long battle and think of some tactics.

First-class trainers should also pay attention to the Poké Ball design.

It is also important to pay attention to the Poké Ball design to enjoy your life as a Pokémon trainer. You can enjoy discovering your favorites and collecting them.

Premier Ball

A Poké Ball given as a bonus when you buy 10 Poké Balls at once at a Poké Mart. The simple design of white with a red line is sure to win the hearts of the fashion-conscious trainers.

Love Ball

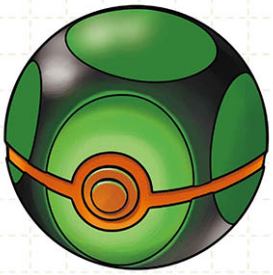
A pretty Poké Ball with a heart design in the center. It works best when catching a Pokémon that is of the opposite gender of your Pokémon.

Moon Ball

A Poké Ball that features a crescent moon design. Not only is it fashionable and popular, but it also makes it easier to catch Pokémon that can evolve using a Moon Stone.

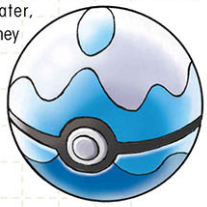
Make sure to catch Pokémon by selecting the right Poké Ball based on the environment and Pokémon.

Pokémon have different habitats and characteristics. Using the right ball will make it easier to catch.



Dusk Ball

A Poké Ball that makes it easier to catch wild Pokémon at night or in dark places such as caves. Although the name sounds a little ominous, it does not affect the Pokémon you catch, so don't be worried when using it.



Dive Ball

A Poké Ball that works especially well when catching Pokémon that live underwater. It seems to work well as long you use it on Pokémon living underwater, even if they are not Water-types.

Net Ball

A Poké Ball that is more effective when attempting to catch Water- or Bug-type Pokémon. It is decorated with a design that looks just like a net, which gives you the impression that it can catch Pokémon easily.

Make your day a little more special with a special Poké Ball.

Having a rare and special Poké Ball in your hand will surely make your day special.

Luxury Ball

A luxurious Poké Ball. As the name suggests, it has a luxurious design, with a black base and gold decoration. It makes a Pokémon quickly grow friendlier after being caught.

Cherish Ball

A quite rare Poké Ball that has been crafted in order to commemorate a special occasion of some sort. Its effectiveness is no different from the Poké Ball, but just holding it gives you a special feeling.

Beast Ball

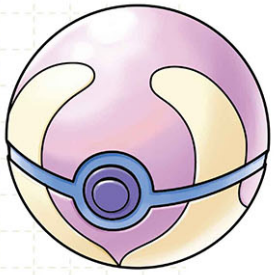
A special Poké Ball designed to catch Ultra Beasts. It is said to have been developed by Lusamine of the Aether Foundation.

Never forget to care about the Pokémon that'll go inside the Poké Balls.

If you can care about the Pokémon you attacked in a battle to catch, you have become a fully-fledged trainer.

Friend Ball

A Poké Ball that will make the Pokémon caught with it more friendly toward you. It is recommended for friendly trainers who want to become close to their newly caught Pokémon quickly.



Heal Ball

A remedial Poké Ball that restores the HP of a Pokémon caught with it and eliminates any status conditions. The design is soothing with its light color.

Quick Ball

A Poké Ball that has a more successful catch rate if used at the start of a wild encounter.It reduces the burden on Pokémon you are trying to catch, since you do not need to attack them in the first place.

©2022 Pokémon. ©1995-2022 Nintendo/Creatures Inc. /GAME FREAK inc.

*Some of the Poke Balls shown cannot be obtained through normal play in Pokemon Scarlet and Pokemon Violet.

Here is a summary of everything you should know about the Paldea region. Deepen your knowledge before you go on an adventure and make your independent study a rewarding experience.

There are as many encounters as there are different landscapes.

The Paldea region offers a sprawling land of nature. Not only is there nature, but there are also many modern buildings. You are free to go wherever you want.
